When is the right time for a Wedding Planning Intensive?

Exactly when you're feeling the pressure.

Maybe it's the day after you got engaged and the excitement has turned into "Where do I even start?" — or you've been DIY-planning for months and are drowning in decisions, questions and opinions. Perhaps you're 75% of the way through and suddenly realising the run sheet is more complicated than you thought. Or you're six weeks out, losing sleep wondering if you've missed something crucial with styling, logistics or vendor coordination. That is the moment a 1:2 intensive call becomes essential — when clarity, structure and expert reassurance are not just helpful, but necessary.
